

If you yield to the temptations, You will end up in the "Worst Scenario" as below.

If you commit a crime in Japan . . .

ARRESTED

Although I came to Japan,
I have to go back to my country
without obtaining any skills.

- Enforced Repatriation
- Imprisonment
- Fine

If you sell your bank account to somebody,

- Your bank account will be closed.

- We make a list of those suspicious bank accounts and share the list with financial institutions.

- You can't make any bank accounts in Japan.

I can't get my salary through my bank account.....
Automatic deduction like school tuition, utility cost, can't be made.
It's so inconvenient to live in Japan without any bank accounts.

If you don't notify your bank when you lose your bank book or bank card . . .

- You will be accused of not discharging your responsibilities as the bank account holder.

- Lawsuit may be filed against you for significant damages claim.

I thought that it's not a big deal, But If I don't care about my bank account.....
It's going to be
A BIG TROUBLE !

You should respect our Japanese laws, and be aware of any involvement in these kinds of cyber crimes.
